THE ELECTORS.

C. P. Overfield successfully named Frank B. Stephens as an elector, and the convention refused to elect other names until it had selected Mr. Stephens by acclamation. Aquilla Nebeker was nominated by Walter J. Sloan, John Derr, by Moses Thatcher, John Seaman from the Weber delegation, and James Andrus by D. H. Morris of St. George. Derr's name was withdrawn and the election went to Nebeker and Andrus, Seaman having 126 votes to 423 for Andrus and 422 for Nebeker.

The final action before adjournment shortly before midnight was to pass a motion made by W. M. Roylance of Provo to the effect that the party refuse to consider Jesse Knight's refusal to be nominated for governor. The motion was defeated by a vote of 126 to 423.

STATE COMMITTEE.

The state committee, selected while waiting for the platform committee to report, was announced as follows: Cache—Henry G. Hayball, I. C. Thorson and J. E. Griffin, Jr. Carbon—L. N. Harmon. Davis—B. H. Roberts, L. J. Muir. Emery—A. F. Luke. Grand—C. A. Robertson. Juab—W. C. Andrews, Frank Christensen.

J. Poulson. Summit—George Smith. Tropic—George H. Derr. Uintah—C. B. Cook. Utah—W. F. Giles, J. H. Clarke, H. Lemmon.

Wasatch—Robert Price. Washington—D. H. Morris. Wayne—Andrew Sanders. Weber—A. L. Peterson, Samuel Thomas, S. S. Smith.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Eventually Launched Following Debate on Two of the Planks. The selecting of a Democratic platform and injunctions, waterways, canal, and irrigation, the public domain, publicity of campaign contributions before election and pledges its earnest support to Bryan and Kern, the candidates for president and vice president. We favor the enactment of a direct primary election law by which, at least, all general offices of the state, including candidates for the United States senate, shall be chosen by a direct vote of the people.

"We favor such legislative action as will provide for a systematic and vigorous method of constructing proper highways."

"Conservation of Resources.—We favor the conservation of the resources of the state and the fullest co-operation with the general government in securing the most economical use of our grazing lands, timber and water. We favor an intelligent, efficient and scientific development of the forest lands."

"Departments and Bureaus.—We favor the creating of the department of mines and geology, of the bureau of health, with powers and funds commensurate with the important duties to be entrusted to it."

"Indian War Veterans.—We favor such steps as may be necessary to aid in the proper reception of the Grand Army at its next annual encampment in Salt Lake in 1909. We favor pensions for the veterans and the families of all who defended the struggling territory in its Indian wars, and we also favor the publication of all records relative to service in the Indian wars of Utah at the expense of the state."

"We arraign the Republican party in this state for the waste of the funds of the people, evidenced by the unwarranted increase of the annual expenditures of the state government. We charge that much of the tax money taken from the people is used to maintain officers not required for public business, but whose only function is to keep the Republican party in power, and therefore we demand that public expenditures shall be so reformed and safeguarded as to abolish all sinecures, that the money shall be put to every public department, and that the business of the people shall be conducted on the most approved lines."

"We demand that the maintenance of the state fair to the fullest extent, in the interest of the varied industries of the commonwealth."

"Shall the People Rule?—Public office is a public trust, and all officeholders are public servants, and, as such, they are to be held to the strictest account. The nomination of a set of men for state officers by a coterie of federal appointees is a reflection upon the right and the judgment of the people of the state and subversive of the principles of our constitution."

"We therefore repeat to every voter who believes in equal but not special privileges, who favors economy in all branches of the government, who stands for an honest ballot and a fair and open executive usurpation, and who reveres the Constitution, and stands by the motto, 'The people must rule,' to join with us in the support of the national and state candidates of our party."

The U. S. Government in its "Pure Food Law" does not "dore" or "guarantee" any preparation, as some manufacturers in their advertisements would make it appear. In the case of medicines the law provides that certain drugs shall be mentioned on the labels, if they are ingredients of the preparations. Ely's Cream Balm, the well-known family remedy for cold in the head, hay fever and nasal catarrh, doesn't contain a single injurious drug, so the makers have simply to print the fact that it complies fully with all the requirements of the law.

FLORAL PARADE A BIG SUCCESS.

FLOAT OF THE THIRTIETH WARD.

Seldom has a more inspiring sight been witnessed in Salt Lake than that seen in the parade of the floral festival. For weeks an army of men, women and children had been busily engaged in preparation for the event, intent upon making it one of the most interesting pageants in the history of the city. That the venture was entirely successful was acclaimed by the reception it received from the thousands of spectators that thronged the streets and Samuel W. Stewart. The following named had charge of the departments represented by the four stakes: E. M. Ashton, Liberty; E. H. Bartley, Pioneer; A. E. Carr, Salt Lake; George J. Cannon, Ensign. The general division was under direction of F. M. Agostini and Joseph J. Cannon.

Once started, the procession moved without a hitch, and not an accident occurred to mar the proceedings. The fact that the spectators were pleased was strongly evidenced by the applause that greeted the paraders from start to finish. It was a sight long ing were the Gainsborough Sextet, Love's Dream and a pretty dance by Miss Jones.

A notable part of the entertainment was the luncheon served by Miss Van Cott, whose tact and tastefulness shown in the arrangement of the tables and dainties created general favorable comment. The work involved in this service and that of the aids was no small item in the contributions to the evening's pleasure.

The hands of other artistic workers had made the hall a bower with festoons and garlands of flowers, the ruling of the winding stair was a solid while the long line of gayly decorated floats and the 1,000 children dressed in pretty colors marched before them. Nearly every ward in the city was represented in the parade, and each float with all others to make a showing that would attract to it the most attention. As a consequence it was a difficult matter to pick out any particular float or party that outshone the others. Each was specially designed, and spectators were pleased.

ONE MILE LONG.

The procession was quite a mile in length, and the paraders were cheered at every step of the long march and counter-march from North Temple to Fourth South street on Main. In the lead was a platoon of police, under Lieut. "Dick" Shannon, followed by Held's band and Marshal of the Day Richard W. Young, with his aids, Hugh J. Cannon, B. F. Grant, Charles S. Martin, Elias A. Smith, George Q. Morris to be remembered by those who witnessed it.

CARNIVAL AT ODEON.

A charming picture greeted the eyes of the spectators last night at Odeon hall, when another, on the list of the high-laid carnival entertainment, was given, in the way of a domino ball, about 500 young people, in pink, white and blue dominoes, marching and counter-marching, under Prof. Agostini's direction, the big dancing hall. Features of the even-mass of garlands in green and white. The entertainments planned for the rest of carnival week promise to make it a memorable one, and the public will probably join in making it an enviable rival to the floral and other festivals of larger cities. To make this patronage within easy reach of the public, the management have decided to make the price of admission to the coming carnival features at Odeon hall half price, so that all classes may enjoy the treat provided.

WHERE THE CONVENTION WAS HELD.

remaining that they had had the most exciting time in a convention that ever Democrats had.

The fact that "Uncle Jesse" had refused positively to accept and that he had repeated the refusal from his home in Provo later in the evening after all the pomp and ceremony of the tremendous ovation tendered to him had passed, seemed a thing incapable of comprehension, and Democrats today are going ahead, hoping that it will not be so, and that something will happen to make Uncle Jesse their candidate after all, and relieve them from the necessity of putting up a substitute candidate, selected by the state committee.

WILD SCENES IN HALL.

Last night when Abel John Evans attempted to nominate Uncle Jesse Knight, there was no chance for speech making. Ashby Snow seized the nearest standard to him and started a parade down the aisle. Everybody followed. Said and responsible leaders of the party danced across the stage, hugging each other, and when finally a picture of Uncle Jesse was brought forward on a standard, the building was made to rock with stamping of feet and echoing applause.

authorized them before leaving for the east to state that he positively would not be a candidate. When finally S. S. Smith gained the floor he convinced the delegates that Judge Rolapp's wishes were positive in the matter, and S. W. Stewart of Salt Lake was named by acclamation.

STRINGFELLOW SUCCESSFUL.

W. H. King nominated J. W. Stringfellow for attorney-general, in a speech that brought forth so much applause that there was no opportunity for any other boom to get a breathing space, and Mr. Stringfellow was selected by acclamation.

MARTINEAU FOR CONGRESS.

That brought the situation down to congressmen, and Weber county waited a hearing here, and got it, but not successfully. Tillman D. Johnson had been held in reserve while Weber county passed its opportunity on Judge Rolapp, and now Weber county brought forth its man against a general sentiment for Martineau, following the naming of "Uncle Jesse" for governor.

Martineau, nominated by B. H. Roberts, fought it out, Martineau receiving 290 votes and Johnson 215 votes.

form was not accomplished without serious debate on two planks. One was the matter of church and state, with charges against the Republicans in Utah, and the other was the matter of local option. The local option matter was settled in committee, while the church matter came up in a lengthy debate on the floor, where James H. Moyle submitted a plank that was not accepted, after opposition from Mathonah Thomas and others.

The report of the platform committee was heard after S. S. Smith had reported for the committee, and the permanent organization, suggesting that the temporary officers be made permanent, and W. F. Bossner had reported for the credentials committee, that there were no contests. It was 5:10 o'clock when the platform committee was ready to report, and a recess had intervened to allow it more time. The report, submitted by Chairman Moses Thatcher and Secy. N. T. Porter was as follows:

"The Democratic party of Utah, in convention assembled, endorse the platform of principles adopted by the national party at Denver, embracing among many other respects, the great questions of economy in administration, abuse of legislative power, mismanagement, tariff and an income tax, rights of the states, regulation of trusts and corporations, popular election of senators, banking laws and guarantee deposits, merchants marine and navy."
